A quality ration designed to promote milk production with a maintenance ration for a typical sow is around 2.5kg per day.

After farrowing increase the feed gradually over the first 10 days. A good rule of thumb is to feed 2kg plus 0.5kg per piglet.

At weaning reduce the feed to maintenance levels unless the sow is very thin.

All the rations are manufactured using only the best quality raw materials and have generous levels of vitamins and minerals added.
