Description

Stihl AK 30 S Lithium-Ion Battery

Introducing the new AK System battery, set to eventually replace the AK 30. This battery is compatible with all tools in the AK System and works seamlessly with standard chargers (AL 101, 301, 500).

The AK 30 S boasts a new 'current/time counter' that automatically boosts maximum power output during peak loads. Despite this enhancement, the battery's working times remain identical to the AK 30. Please note, this battery is intended for domestic use only.

Current / Time Counter

The AK 30 S features a current/time counter that operates automatically without any user input. When the tool is under peak load, the AK 30 S allows it to request additional power to meet performance demands. This temporary increase in current results in performance peaks.

It's important to note that this does not mean an overall increase in power. This improvement may only be noticeable in RMA and MSA tools, as they draw higher currents. For other product groups, users will not notice a power increase because the tools do not reach peak load. During everyday use, users will not experience any performance difference compared to the AK 30.
