Description

Silky Gomtaro 300-8 Straight Edge Pruning Saw

The Gomtaro pruning saw is an essential piece of your equipment and a user's first choice for formative pruning during the early years of a tree's growth.

Perfectly balanced, the straight blade gives an even cleaner and more precise cut than a curved blade and easier to handle in tight spaces as well as close to the ground.

For making a felling cut, the straight blade helps you to manipulate hinge wood while maintaining a straight back cut. Also highly recommended among skilled arborists when removing the crown of a tree.

Single construction, the blade is forged from premium Japanese steel with a hard chrome plating and taper-ground design for greater cutting efficiency.
