Description

Silky Zubat 3300 Pole Pruning Saw

The Zubat Pole Saw is a lightweight, state of the art, telescopic pole saw with an oval shaped aluminium alloy pole which offers both strength and precise control.

An extremely versatile product with a wide range of uses including trimming, pruning, gardening, forestry and arboriculture.

The telescopic design has two locking systems – a spring loaded locking button and friction clamps which work in tandem to ensure a strong and stable pole extension.

This lightweight pole can be used from the ground or climbed with in order to gain greater pruning range without the need of heavier, more cumbersome equipment.

The base poles measures 1500mm and features pole-end shock absorbers along with a comfortable rubberised over-grip ensuring good hold and control.

Using the same blade as the Zubat Professional 330mm Hand Saw, the saw itself has a curved blade with a standard teeth ratio of 7.5 teeth per 30mm.

The blades are fully interchangeable offering added flexibility and supplied with a black rigid-plastic blade guard is which locks onto the blade for extra protection.
